

WELCOME

TO

C3 LOCATION SYSTEMS

The most advanced GPS software application ever designed

By Robert W. Chapman

More than 45 years ago, Chapman began as an automotive security company. Years later, the family-founded company branched into GPS as an innovator in security. Today Chapman Command Center, Inc. DBA C3 Location Systems, offers the highest quality, feature rich commercial security, GPS products at competitive pricing. Distributors, Dealers, Installers, Engineers and Integrators specify C3 products to satisfy their commercial needs. C3 has a wealth of experience catering its products to commercial companies, with that comes a close working relationship and acceptance by C3 customers being part of our "Business Family".

PIONEER IN THE INDUSTRY

A commitment to personalized customer service, quality products, reliability and affordability has resulted in products being deployed in commercial, industrial and municipal facilities across the United States and worldwide. C3 prides itself on being an innovator, able to meet customer's needs. C3 is at the forefront of developing a universal GPS Operating System. Product innovation is only one of our strengths. "The company builds its business by taking customers from start to finish," says Robert Chapman, CEO of C3 Location Systems.

WORLD-CLASS SALES AND SUPPORT

C3 has a Sales Team consisting of bilingual regional Sales Representatives based in its' Boca Raton, FL Headquarters, as well as in other locations across North America. The company offers second-to-none Customer and Technical Support for its entire line of GPS Equipment, Software, and Services, as well as custom product design and Network support. Following the belief that well trained Customers make the best partners, C3 developed several educational courses. Feedback was so positive that C3 invested in a new educational training center at its Headquarters to further train its' customers. The training center was set up to provide a hands-on experience with the company's products, while teaching all the features and functions of the solutions. "We want our customers to grow with us and move forward" Chapman relates.

Gain mission critical insights on:

- 1. The potential benefits of infrastructure sharing
- 2. Realize the benefits of a full scale integration of GPS devices and the C3 enterprise operating system
- 3. New Fleet Logic applications to provide a full complement of business management tools for a wide variety of fleet applications.
- 4. Patent Protection and Governmental compliance
- 5. The trip has just begun; feel free to join us on our mission.

-Robert W. Chapman, CEO C3 Location Systems

In addition to regular training classes at its' Headquarters, C3 offers its' On-the-Road operational series, which starts in January, 2008. The educational series includes installers and software operations training personnel that travel to different locations throughout the year to increase customer reach. "If they cannot come to us, we will gladly bring our services to them," says Chris Chapman a Sales & Marketing Representative. "We want our Customers to become knowledgeable in our new technologies that are improving the GPS industry everyday." As part of its' mission, C3 offers training, education, and support as a free, value-added feature for being part of the C3 Family. C3 has also partnered with FireDog, a division of Circuit City, to do our installations nationwide. Learn more with our free Return on Investment (ROI) Calculator, available on our Website. The company's mission is to offer unique products, with innovative features, at prices the end user can afford. The C3 Chameleon Software is doing just that! To learn more about C3 products and services, and get expert tips and advice on new systems and applications, visit C3 Location Systems today at www.c3ls.com or call Chris Chapman at 1-561-995-9004.

